Pacific Northwest Proud Boys – Rob Cantrall, Dakota Gilmore, Pete Venturo, Graham Jorgensen, David Silliman

Posted on June 27, 2018 by Rose City Antifa

Rose City Antifa, working in conjunction with allied groups in the region, has obtained information on many of the Pacific Northwest-located members of the white nationalist, alt-right group known as the Proud Boys. Over the coming weeks, we will be publishing a series of articles detailing the Proud Boys' specific brand of organized hate, and the individuals who make up this rising "weekend warrior" gang, in order to alert the community about the threat that this group poses. You can follow along on our website and on Twitter, using the hashtag #DoxxAllYourBoys.

Rob Cantrall

 Robert Edward Cantrall

Rob Cantrall was one of the Pacific Northwest's earliest Proud Boy converts, as the hate group's brand seemed a precise fit for his already well-established penchant for violent harassment. Some of Joey Gibson's earliest Portland-area far-right events were called “Antifa-Watch,” and typically involved Gibson calling upon his followers to descend upon leftist or even progressive demonstrations and interrupt them with harassment. Some of his followers, including Cantrall, added to Gibson’s directives by threatening demonstrators with violence. Footage from a May 13, 2017 anti-police-brutality event in downtown Portland shows Cantrall—attending Joey Gibson’s counter-protest—repeatedly attempting to fight or attack demonstrators. Even Gibson’s own violent followers such as David Fry (who would soon defect from Patriot Prayer in response to their violence) appeared uncomfortable.

After making an unprovoked assault against an activist, Rob Cantrall is confronted by Patriot Prayer follower David Fry. Fry soon abandoned Joey Gibson’s organization during a dispute over money.

Cantrall prides himself on the “Based Hobo” moniker he developed. This seems to be derived from his one-man-organization called “The Poverty Party,” which no longer has a website, and which seems never to have existed offline or offered any real services. At multiple events, Cantrall has been heard concern-trolling about the plight of poor and houseless people, while simultaneously advocating for the very systems of capitalist control which have produced such an epidemic of suffering.

In May of 2018, Proud Boy Rob Cantrall made national headlines when he and then-girlfriend Lauren Barrett \(aka Lauren White\) were documented on video making threats to burn down a leftist book store in Berkeley, CA. Also present with Cantrall when he made these threats were Bay Area far-right activists Jourdin and Alexandria Davis.

Dakota Gilmore

 Dakota Alton Gilmore

Gilmore has attended at least three of Joey Gibson's hate rallies. Most notably, on April 29, 2017 Gilmore marched through the Montavilla neighborhood of Portland along with racist murderer Jeremy Christian.

Apart from occasionally attending hate rallies Gilmore evidently does very little to advance the cause of "western chauvinism" beyond posting bland Trump memes to Facebook and Twitter.

Around May 5th 2017, Gilmore avowed white nationalist talking points in a Facebook live video, stating his position as a "proud western chauvinist" who will "never apologize for creating the modern world." The date of the video is significant in that it coincides with another of white nationalist Milo Yiannopoulos' failed spectacles; the kick off of his return to touring, uncleverly dubbed "Cinco de Milo," after the revelation of Yiannopolous' enthusiasm for pedophilia, and his subsequent disgrace. In the brief video Gilmore wishes his viewers a "happy Cinco de Milo" between fascistic pronouncements.

Pete Ventura

 Peter Phillip Ventura

Medford, OR far-right YouTube rapper Peter Ventura joined up with Patriot Prayer sometime around Joey Gibson's violent August 6th, 2017 rally on the waterfront, which drew many local fascists. Ventura wandered around the rally livestreaming himself threatening anti-fascists and instigating numerous brawls. Ventura's self-aggrandizing hunger for the embarrassing forms of "fame" available to racists, homophobes, and other provocateurial bigots in the age of Trump, made him amenable to Joey Gibson's "martyrdom" approach to far-right public spectacle. Ventura quickly fell under Gibson's thrall.

Ventura enjoys dressing up and adopting various personas for his fellow Proud Boys and Patriot Prayer followers, sometimes posing as "King USA" (pronounced ooh-suh), his clumsy patriotic rap persona "Political Muscle" (definitely not the first far-right rapper we've covered), and occasionally even as a fake anti-fascist named "Pat Robert Panicci" (a ruse only adherents of the far-right seem to believe).

Graham Jorgensen

One of Graham Jorgensen's earliest appearance at a Patriot Prayer rally was at Joey Gibson's April 2, 2017 rally in Esther Short Park in Vancouver, WA. Jorgensen, already wearing Gavin McInnes' appropriation of the Fred Perry, mingled with right-wing men who would become members of fascist hate groups such as the Cascade Legion, the Proud Boys, and the PDX Stormers. Jorgensen has continued to rally with white nationalists, Nazis, and other bigots at rallies hosted by Joey Gibson. David Silliman

David Silliman is not just a member of the white nationalist Proud Boys hate group, he is also a precinct officer with the Vancouver Washington Republican party. He attended Gibson's first Vancouver event on April 2, 2017, and has been seen at a number of Proud Boy and Patriot Prayer events since then. Silliman represents another intimate link between the Proud Boys, Patriot Prayer, and local branches of the Republican Party, even though the more mainstream GOP has been hesitant to associate themselves with either group directly.
